I KNOW WHAT YOUR SEARCHING FOR...

Have you ever felt like you are just wandering aimlessly through life. Wondering why am I here? What am I supposed to do? Almost as though you have this lost memory, nagging at the back of your brain. Somehow you just can't seem to pull it into focus.

Many of the choices for your life you've felt forced into or they have been made for you by parents, friends or circumstances. Even though people are directing you to go one direction you have this nagging feeling you are supposed to be headed in another.

What is it?

You have dreams in the night, some you have had over and over again. What do they mean? You have searched them out a little, still they don't make any sense. What is it?

A time? A place? A purpose?

You have friends, but something is missing. You just don't feel like you fit. Why?

Do other people feel this way too?

You are reading this right now and saying, "Yes, that's me." You're heart and mind are intent to know what is next. Why? What is it? Before I tell you, I want to share a story with you.

There once was a King who ruled over a beautiful kingdom. His subjects dearly loved this King. His courts were arrayed with beauty and color and music. There was no sadness, sickness, poverty or hunger in the King's kingdom.

One day, however, one of the King's chief leaders became jealous of all the adoration the King received. He decided it was unjustly deserved and persuaded others in the King's domain to revolt against the just King.

The King exiled the rebellious ones to a far off land. In this land there was all manner of evil, it was dark and void. Nothing good was found in this place. The just King, though he had exiled the rebellious ones to this place, decided to set Keepers over the land so that this part of His domain would not remain in decay.

He chose to create special clothing suitable for the environment of this foreign land to protect the Keepers from the defilement of the evil ones. He had volunteers who He gave explicit instructions to for this assignment. They were called the Keepers. The King also gave the keepers special powers and authority. The King stayed in close contact with his keepers. He warned them of eating the food of the evil ones.

If they were to eat of their food, they would begin to forget. They would not remember Him or why they were there. They would be cut off from Him and their communication would cease. They would also, forget about the goodness of the King and His kingdom and the knowledge of the special power and authority granted unto them.

The Keepers were sent on their mission. For a while all was going well. Things were changing. They were bringing in beauty, color and music into this part of the Kings domain. The evil one however, was not pleased with this and plotted to take out the Keepers of the King.

The evil one knew he had to get the Keepers to eat some of his food. So he formed a plot. He decided to catch one of them off guard, alone. He disguised himself. He posed as one of the beautiful creatures the Keepers had charge over.

One day the evil one cunningly began to speak to the lone Keeper. The Keeper not knowing this was the evil one began to converse with him. He was so pleasant. He knew how the Keepers spoke. He knew exactly what to say. He knew exactly when to make His move. He invited the Keeper to eat of his food. Though the Keeper knew this food was not of his food supply, it looked good and safe enough. The lone Keeper ate the food. A short time later the Keepers partner returned to see his friend eating with this creature. He became dismayed and upset by what he saw. Knowing this food was not from their supply and also understanding the risk.

But his friend, already coming under the influence of the food, insisted it was good and that he have some. It appeared to be alright. So he agreed and joined them.

Immediately the King in His kingdom knew something was wrong. The Keepers communications suddenly began to fade. The Keepers took off their special suits and they began to forget. They came under the evil one's domain.

The evil one rejoiced in his victory. But this was not a battle that was over.

The King continued to send His people in. He also had to have strategies and ways to bring them in. It became more difficult for the volunteers. Now when they arrived, they wouldn't have their special suits. They had to blend in. Their assignments also had changed. They also had to go and get the lost Keepers from the evil one. They would forget their assignments upon arrival. The King made arrangements that there would be clues and signs and people at certain points to help them remember.

This battle went on for many, many years. The volunteers continued to be sent in, some would remember and complete their assignment but many more would forget and fall under the evil one's domain. For those that would remember they would tell the others, they would try to share the Kings plan and would try to get the others to remember.

The King realizing there would have to be a battle in this part of His kingdom began to prepare for war. He began to prepare His troops. He needed His forces that were in the evil one's domain. He needed them to remember. He created a special assignment, for His most valuable person in His kingdom. The only one who could carry out such a task. One who knew the ways of the King, even His very thoughts. One, who could fully represent Him. The one who had as much authority as Him. His Son.

Just like all the others, He also had to remember. But unlike the rest, He could not fail. Unlike the others that had gone before Him, He would have to demonstrate the Kingdom to the people for them to begin to remember. The King assigned extra forces to make sure that His Son would succeed.

The evil one heard of the King's plan. He did not know when or where the Son would appear so he set up his forces and spies to keep watch and look for signs of the appearance of the King's Son.

The evil one also began to stir up the King's own people in his domain against the King and the King's Keepers. They began to viciously attack and kill anyone said to be representing the King in the evil one's domain.

The King's Son came in disguised as a humble servant. His Son remembered His assignment. He was able to maintain constant communication with His Father the King. At the time appointed by the King, He began to demonstrate the power and authority of the King and His kingdom. He began to free the King's people held captive by the evil one. He was able to help some of them to remember. Not all wanted to remember. Some given over completely to the evil one wanted Him dead. So they plotted to kill the Son.

The Son's assignment also required Him back at His Father's kingdom. There was another phase to the King's plan before the battle would begin. The King wanted to send a Special Agent. Someone who would carry on the work of His Son. So while the enemy plotted to kill the Son, His Father the King had already planned how He would take Him out of the enemy's domain and send in His Special Agent.

The evil one fell right into the King's trap.

The Son's assignment also required Him to take the enemy's keys. Kept in the very bowels of the evil one's dominion. It was going to require Him to suffer many things. It was going to require Him to go without communication from the Father until it was done. It was going to require Him to be betrayed by one of His own, to be given into the hands of the evil one. Once in the evil one's camp the Son would have access to his keys.

Just like the King's plan. The Son was betrayed and handed over to those blinded by the evil one. They beat Him, whipped, stripped Him of His garments and hung Him for public display in the evil one's domain. They killed the King's Son or at least the evil one thought he did. This was all part of the King's plan. They destroyed the Son's specially tailored suit, but they did not destroy the Son. They freed the Son to be able to move right into the evil one's camp and take his keys.

Now having taken back the keys that the evil one had used against the King's Keepers, the Son was now able to return back to the Father and send in the Special Agent to finish the work. The Special Agent had no need of a special suit. He consisted of all energy, power and light. He was able to exist in all environments. He could penetrate into all substances. He would finish the work the Son started. He would continue to bring the Keepers out of the grasp of the evil one. The Special Agent had special abilities. He was able to multiply Himself in every Keeper that began to remember. He was able to help the Keepers remember their assignments, their power and authority. He was able to help them remember the King and His kingdom. He was also able to reestablish their communications to the King. He was also able to teach the Keepers the demonstrations of the Son. His final task was to prepare them for the upcoming battle. The inevitable battle between the King and the evil one.

The evil one continued to try to deceive the King's Keepers. He tried to imitate the King's kingdom. He tried to confuse the Keepers. He tried to make distractions to keep them from their assignments. He would give them wealth and fame. He would make them sick and dying. He would try to make his world more desirable than the King's kingdom to keep the Keepers from fully remembering. He would imprison their minds with mental illness. He would cause them to want and desire his dainties, he would make them look so appealing. He would cause the Keepers to become addicted to drugs, alcohol and to be self focused; forgetting once again the King and His kingdom and their assignments. He would even send in false keepers, to take the true Keepers of course and make them turn away from the King.

You've read this far. Are you ready for the answer you are seeking?

WHO ARE YOU? WHY ARE YOU HERE? WHAT ARE YOU SUPPOSE TO DO?
AREN'T YOU SUPPOSED TO DO MORE THAN JUST EXIST?

Are you ready to change your mind about what you currently believe?

Are you ready to switch sides? Do you really want to know the truth?

Do you want your life's assignment? Once you choose to know, you cannot go back into ignorance.

Do you want the fog to lift? Do you want that nagging in your belly to stop?
The Truth will not make your life any easier. It will make your life fulfilled and have meaning.

It's not a pill. It's not a special prayer. It's not a religion.

IT'S COMING FACE TO FACE WITH THE KNOWLEDGE OF THE TRUE REASON YOU ARE HERE AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT AND FULL ACCEPTANCE OF THE ONE WHO SENT YOU. THE KING OF KINGS.

STOP!!!

This is not another religious answer. You asked the question. You wanted to know. You asked for a sign. HELLO. Read the answer.

Who is the King? He is God, the Almighty Father.
Who is the Son? Jesus the Son of God
Who is the Special Agent? The Holy Spirit of God
Who are the Keepers? Mankind
Who is the evil one? The devil.

There are only two sides. There is no in between. You were sent here with an assignment from the King of Glory. Acceptance of Jesus as the Son of God is the only way to re-establish communication with the Father. The Holy Spirit of God will help you and come into you so you may know what your assignment is. Why you are here.

What will it take? Everything. What will it cost you? Everything. What will change in your life? Everything.

Do you still want to know the Truth?

It does not matter where you are right now. It does not matter what your lifestyle is right now. It does not matter what you have done. None of that matters. Not if you want the Truth. You were sent here with an assignment. Are you going to have peace until you know what that is? NO.

First you must acknowledge God as God the Almighty. No one else is God. No one else is your King. You must CHOOSE sides. Either the devil or God. Only two choices.

When you Choose, you must completely turn away from the enemies kingdom and all his ways. That is called repentance. That means STOP everything that is not of God. How do you know what is of God, He has it written down in a book. It's called the Bible.

Second, you must acknowledge and make Jesus your Lord. That means He's in charge of your life. He is Lord. You give Him permission to rule in your life. He will direct you. When you are part of an army you don't make the rules, you follow them. You SUBMIT.

Third, ask for the Holy Spirit of God to fill you. He will empower you to fulfill your commission. He is the one who will teach you and train you.

Does this mean you have to go out and buy army fatigues. NO.

God will never ask you to go out and bomb anyone either. The power of the Kingdom of God is Love.

This is not a weak wimpy Love. This love is power. Power to deliver the lost, power to heal the sick, power to raise the dead. Power to change places of darkness into places of light. Power to bring others back to their right place in the Kingdom of God. You were once lost, but now you are found.

YOU have read this far. What are you going to do? This is not something you try out. It is a choice you make that will have eternal ramifications.

When you choose, Choose God. Choose Life.

Then ask the Lord to Lead you to a place where you will find HIS Truth and training. Don't seek out religion. Seek out relationship with Jesus the Son of God. God is faithful, if you want the Truth He will direct you to it. Start with the Bible the Word of God.

There is an end time battle coming, make sure you are in the right army NOW.

REMEMBER...Eternity is ETERNAL. Heaven is real. Hell is real.

There is no magic prayer. The prayer from your heart to Father God of true repentance, a desire to change, and the request of forgiveness of sin through the blood of Jesus. Acceptance of Jesus as the Messiah, the savior...YOUR savior. Ask the Holy Spirit to fill you with His presence. Tell others right away that you have made Jesus the Lord of your life. Get a bible, when you read it ask the Holy Spirit to direct your reading and help you to understand. Spend time with the Father daily, in His word and in prayer.

Prayer is simply communication with God. Yes...He will talk to you. Through His word (the bible) and to your spirit. Ask God for His Truth, Ask Him to direct His people to you and to keep the wrong people away from you. He will direct your path.

Welcome into the Kingdom of God.
